Buddy Washington Killed In Fight

K. L. Ferrow, better known in Cameron as "Buddy" Washington, was fatally stabbed by Freddie Lee Harris Saturday night in an argument which started over an old fox tail.

The fight started on the sidewalk in front of the old Marshall Chambers place over the foxtail which Dave Mackie, the former father-in-law of Buddy and the present father-in-law of Harris, had given to Buddy.

The fox tail turned up in the front of Harris's car and was reclaimed by Buddy, who later denied it to Katie, his former wife.

When Buddy and his present wife, Minnie, met Katie on the sidewalk he asked her about it, denying that he took it.

This started an argument between the women which ended with Freddie Lee hitting Buddy over the eye with a dirk and stabbing him twice in the back with the inch wide, six inch long blade on either side of the back-bone, just below the shoulder blade.

Buddy asked that a doctor be called and Mary Jo Lewis, one of the witnesses to the fight, told him to see Sheriff Black. They went to the jail to see the sheriff but the victim died in the yard back of the jail before the ambulance arrived.

The body was taken to the Phillip - Luckey Funeral Home in Rockdale where arrangements will be announced later.

Murder charges were filed against Harris with the examining trail set in Judge B. G. Rice Justice of the Peace on Tuesday afternoon.

Drowning Victims Found After Two Days Two Nights

After combing Little River for two nights and two days searching parties discovered the bodies of little seven year old Chester Klepper and A. A. Haney, who drowned Monday afternoon at about 4:30 p. m.

The body of the boy was found about 7 p. m. Wednesday evening, approximately 200 yards from the scene of the drowning and the man's body found at 6:30 Thursday morning, was just a few feet from the scene of tragedy.

Memorial services were scheduled for Chester Klepper at the Phillip-Luckey Funeral Home Chapel Thursday afternoon at 4 p. m. with Reverend A. L. Gatewood of the Rockdale First Baptist Church officiating. Interment was scheduled to be in the Abilene cemetery in Abilene, Texas, Friday afternoon, April 15 at 3:30 p. m.

Arrangements for Rockdale services for Mr. Haney have not yet been announced. Interment will be in Coleman, Texas.

The accident occurred when a log smashed the boat the men and boy were fishing from, back of the Roy Terry place, and knocked them into the swift currents of the over-

Salk Vaccine Final Results Promises Quick End To Polio

Ann Arbor, Mich.—The Salk polio vaccine works — safely, potently — and can virtually end the icy fear that long has gripped the hearts of parents.

The vaccine was officially declared Tuesday to have proved to be 80 to 90 per cent effective in preventing paralytic polio.

And young Dr. Jonas E. Salk, who developed it, declared he is certain it can be potentially made almost 100 per cent potent to smash polio's terror and tragedies.

The triumph of the vaccine was announced in an atmosphere of supercharged excitement by Dr. Thomas Francis, Jr., of the University of Michigan at a scientific meeting.

He reported there was an incredibly low incidence of either minor or severe reactions among the vaccinated. Indeed, children receiving completely innocuous dummy shots had about as many reactions — skin rashes and feverish feelings — as those getting the real vaccine.

The vaccine is powerful, particularly against the most terrible type of polio that hits at the brain — bulbar polio.

There is no doubt, Dr. Francis said, that children can be vaccinated successfully, protected against the silent invasion of three types of virus.

Dr. Salk, on the basis of new findings, urged that only two shots be given this summer.

This would expand the available supply to make enough available for 45,000,000 — about the entire population of children under 10 years of age.

He finds that given two shots, spaced two to four weeks apart, "primers" the human body to turn out antibodies to combat any invading virus. The third, or "booster" shot, should be given not earlier than seven months later, Dr. Salk said. It then pulls the trigger of the antibody mechanism to flood the bloodstream with antibodies.

Tuesday's announcement climaxes an often frustrating search for a weapon to strike back at polio. It encompasses years of drama, of stubborn courage, tears, and fears, of blind anger against a destroyer, white hospital beds, pulsing iron lungs, the quiet of scientific laboratories.

MINERVA CEMETERY MEET
The Minerva Cemetery Association plans to meet at 8 a. m. April 26 to clean the entire cemetery.

Everyone interested in helping with the project has been invited to attend and bring a basket lunch along with their working implements.

Those who will be unable to help on that day have been asked to contact Mrs. Claude Dixon to make contributions and someone will be hired in their place.

Know Thy Neighbor

(Editors note: Your friends and neighbors have interesting histories, short biographies will appear each week about one of them. If you have any suggestions on someone who would be interesting for the next "Neighbor" column call 282, the Cameron Herald office.)

by Fred Peimecky

Henry C. Dreyer was born near Brenham in Washington County, Texas on July 1, 1892. He attended Green Oak School near Brenham. When he was 25 years old he came to Cameron and was employed by R. L. Batte. He worked on a maintenance crew whose duty it was to repair and maintain Mr. Batte's 28 gins in and around Cameron.

When war was declared in April of 1917, it was only a short time later that Henry joined the army and went to Camp Travis at San Antonio, Texas. He underwent 9 months of basic training and then he and his company, Company B of the 345th Machine Gun Battalion, were shipped overseas. The company landed at Liverpool, England. Shortly afterward they were moved to France where they trained for two months before being sent to the Saint Mihiel front. After fighting for about 2 months at the Saint Mihiel front the company was sent to the Argonne Forest. After being in the Argonne for only 3 days Henry was ordered to report to the hospital for treatment of gassing.

Much against his will he was hospitalized in a field hospital in another area. After being in the hospital 3 days he got homesick for his buddies in the Argonne Forest.

"I could see the shell fire at night," he said, "and I felt as if I were separated from my brothers."

He left the hospital without a leave of absence and hopped on a freight train headed for the front. He got back to his company a few days before the Armistice was signed.

He held the rank of First Class Bugler in the army but bugling was only a part of his duties. He fired machine guns when he was needed, was regularly used as a

Four Men And Girl Save Cattle From Elm Waters

A flash flood on Elm Creek about a mile and a half north of the city limits here Sunday afternoon wiped out fences and two roads, killed two head of cattle, and isolated more than 250 head of livestock.

Heavier livestock losses were prevented when four men and a 15 year old girl swam a herd of 250 head of Hereford cattle to high ground shortly after the rise hit.

They were Furman Sheffield, part owner of the cattle, his son, Charles, Dr. Charles Parker, Claudia Garrett, and her father who owned the remainder of the herd.

Shuffield, Parker and Claudia, who were assisted later on by two unidentified horsemen, started the horseback operation while Garrett operated the two-motor boat, pulling many cattle to safety by their ears.

Dr. Parker stated that the hardest part of getting the cattle to dry land was in getting them to realize that the shortest distance between two points is a straight line, not downstream.

One of the unidentified helpers, who finally succeeded in getting his horse into the water, almost drowned with his steed in the swift creek waters.

The cattle were marooned on a tiny plot of high ground following the rise and the trio first attempted to drive the cattle to safety on horseback. When the horses refused to enter the water, they used a boat to reach the island and herded the cattle to dry land, forcing them to swim the swollen waters of Elm creek, which was approximately a half mile wide at the widest point.

Working in swift water, 12 feet deep in places, the trio suffered only minor cuts from thorns and barb wire while they, as well as the cattle, swam to higher ground some 250 yards away.

Two county roads were inundated by the creek which left its bank about two miles west of US 77 to a point about a mile and a half east of the highway.

Both the old Yarrrellton road and the Maysfield highway were washed out by the flood.

Other damage included a number of fences in the area knocked down by the rampaging flood water, and the loss of some cotton planted in the area. However, the majority of the land was in pasture.

About 10 head of horses were marooned on high ground in the middle of the flood. The rest of the flood did not reach them. Although the flood crest had not yet receded to its banks.

Sportsmen Plan Meeting To Decide Minnow Legislation

With the eloquence and attention to minute details of the fisherman talking about his favorite subject, fishing, 19 members of the Milam County Sportsmen Club discussed three bills to preserve game fish and rid the river and streams of rough fish at their meeting in the District courtroom Wednesday night.

Herman Yezak, Representative from this district, was present to discuss the legislation proposed by the Sportsmen's directors at their last meeting.

The three bills concerned (1) Prohibiting any person to have fish shocking devices, or telephone equipment, in their possession; (2) To once again legalize the use of gill nets in Milam County to rid the river and streams of rough fish; and (3) To prohibit taking over 250 minnows out of the county by any one person.

Don Humble, member of the club, said that there was some rumbling that the bills might have been pushed by some outside sources, but, as far as he knew, they came strictly from the club, having been proposed by various directors at the last directors meeting.

All the convened sportsmen wet their line in the minnow discussion.

Some thought it would provide more food for the fish if the minnows were left in the waters and the others, backed by a Game Warden which was present, thought that the legislation would do no real good and merely deprive Commercial minnow dealers of their business.

It was brought out that many concerns from outside Milam county came here and, with a pumping machine, took thousands of minnows out of the water and sold them out of the county.

Fishermen pointed out that they get their main source of minnows from the Cameron Water Department pump station and wondered why the city officials did not take action to keep the outsiders off city property.

There was such a definite division of thought that the members present decided to call an open meeting of the rest of the clubs membership and any of the general public that wished to attend to get the over-all viewpoint on whether to enforce or reject the legislation. The public meeting was slated for Thursday night, April 14, at the District Courtroom at 7:30 p. m.

Another major decision made at the meeting was to ask Yezak to add Milam County to the group of counties which form their own fish and game laws, under the Fish and Game Commission. Those Counties in this organization are governed not by the general state laws but by laws composed to help their particular county and suit its needs.

Rains Bring 3.55 Inches In Cameron

Beginning with soft spring showers Saturday morning and ending Monday with a forty-five minute downpour, Cameronsites accounted for 3.55 inches of rain over the period.

Mother Nature provided added inducement for re-planted crops Friday evening and Saturday morning with .17 rain falling. Later Saturday morning, a two day deluge began which sent Elm Creek over its banks in semi-flood proportions when 2.47 inches fell. Officials at the local water department stated that the total Saturday was .89, with a total of 1.59 reported for Sunday.

Cameron again was the recipient of one of the thundershowers forecast for the Central Texas area Monday with 1.06 inches falling in a 45 minute downpour.

The sheets of driving rain started about 9:45 a. m. when the eerie over-hanging rain clouds blacked out the city in semi-darkness.

With the ending of the rain at 10:30 a. m. daylight once more reigned and city business went on as usual.

Rain fall for this area during 1955 has been good, to date, with 2.45 falling during January; 4.70 in February; 2.34 in March and 3.55 thus far in April, bringing the over-all total up to 13.04. During 1954, Cameron received around 14 inches during the entire year.

Although the rains generally helped the recently re-planted crops, heavy wash-outs were reported by the Soil Conservation Service reported. Many of the young plants were harmed as well as some of the soil washed.

Coffield - Pickens Are Judged Not Guilty In $8 Million Suit

District Judge O. D. Graham rendered judgment here Monday for H. H. Coffield, Rockdale oilman, and W. L. Pickens, Dallas oilman, in a suit seeking $8 million damages from them.

The judgment cleared Coffield, a member of the State Prison Board, and Pickens of all allegations contained in a suit brought by a Houston oil operator, Dewitt Langford and wife.

It denied any recovery for Langford.

Langford had contended he had been almost "wiped out" in business deals with the two defendants. He sought recovery of money he claimed had been gotten from him in business transactions involving marble tables, bulk whiskey, ranch lands and a Houston soft drink bottling plant.

The 29th District judge's decision said Coffield and Pickens had acted "in the utmost good faith, and have exercised the highest degree of care, and have performed each and every duty, trust, and obligation imposed upon them under and by virtue of each and every transaction had with the plaintiffs ..."

The judgment further found that Coffield and Pickens had fully accounted to Langford for all money and property coming into their hands in connection with the disputed transactions.

"It is the order, judgment and decree of this court that neither of the defendants is indebted to the plaintiffs for any sum of money held.

The judgment found no breach of contracts on the part of Coffield and Pickens, and that "no fraud, deceit, or misrepresentation" on their part had been established.

In a finding of facts requested by the defendants, Judge Graham said that Langford's own audit showed Coffield and Pickens had fully accounted to him, adding that the defendants "more than complied with all their obligations to Langford."

The statement of facts said that actually Langford was indebted to Coffield and Pickens but that "the defendants have apparently waived same."

Soil Conservation District Meet Set For May 9 to 15 By Governor Shivers

The Directors of the Association of Texas Soil Conservation District Supervisors were present March 14 when Governor Allan Shivers proclaimed May 9 to 15, 1955, as Soil Conservation District Week in Texas.

Realizing that much progress has been made in conserving our vital natural resources, soil and water, but recognizing the fact that each year thousands of acres of our soil suffer from wind and water erosion, vast areas of our range and timber land become more depleted and large quantities of our water resources are lost, all to the detriment of Texans, Texas landowners having organized 171 soil conservation districts covering more than 97 per cent of land of Texas, are proving that known conservation techniques and practices will stabilize our soil, conserve our water and render each acre of land more productive.

Despite the great progress that has been made there are still innumerable landowners who have not become cooperators and there are many people not connected directly with farming and ranching who don't have a clear understanding of the aims and purposes of soil conservation districts.

This week of special observance of soil conservation districts will end on May 15, which has been designated as Soil Stewardship Sunday. Services are planned in many churches throughout the State whereby our people will be reminded of their dependence on the land and of their responsibility for proper stewardship of this God given resource.

Marie Hooper Feted At Courtesy Given By Miss Anna Kirk

Miss Marie Hooper of Taylor, and formerly of Cameron, was named honoree at a party given by Miss Anna Lee Kirk at her home Saturday evening at six o'clock.

The table was laid with a white imported cutwork cloth, and the appointments were in silver. The candles were pink and pink carnations were used at vantage points in the party rooms.

Miss Shirley Horstmann poured coffee.

On the coffee table in the living room were two large satin bells with a gift from the hostess in the honoree's chosen silver.

Out of town guests other than the honoree were Mrs. Ken Kirk from Harlingen and Mrs. J. Robert Curtis from Houston.

Miss Hooper, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Hooper of Lexington, has been the honoree at many parties in Taylor, Lexington and other cities. She is the bride-elect of Hilary Wilson, of Angleton and son of Mr. and Mrs. F. R. Wilson of Taylor.

She was honored at a pre-nuptial courtesy in the home of Mrs. Geneva Skinner of Granger. Close friends were invited, and as decorations, polished oranges were used with orange blossoms. Each guest brought Miss Hooper a piece of her choice in pottery.

She was also given a surprise at the meeting of the birthday club of the FB&PW recently in Taylor.

The party at the county home of Mrs. Ernest Olson, one of the members, opened with the usual covered dish supper, and was in celebration of several of the birthday members.

When dinner was over and the celebrants had been remembered, one of the members brought gifts in pottery from a closet in the home for Miss Hooper as the first bride of the club.

Decorations were in green and white in keeping with the honoree's ivory pottery.

On the previous Saturday, Miss Hooper was the honoree at a miscellaneous shower in her hometown, Lexington.

The party was given in the home of Mrs. Jack Harrison with members of the honoree's Sunday School class, the Mary Martha of the First Baptist Church, as hostesses.

A pink and white theme was used for the decorations throughout the home. White Dutch Iris was used for the coffee table; an arrangement of pale pink spring flowers on the television, and the dining table laid in pink linen and overlaid in pink net with nosegays of bridal wreath, was centered in miniature on a reflector, out-in miniature on a reflector, outlined in pink and white flowers. All appointments were in crystal and silver.

Among those attending were Miss Shirely Horstmann and Miss Anna Kirk, both of Cameron.

Miss Hooper will exchange vows with Mr. Wilson on Easter Sunday in Lexington.

Late in the afternoon a weiner roast was held at the State Park. There were plenty of "goodies" for all, including hot dogs, soda water, pickles, olives, and cookies of all kinds. There were few who turned down the invitation of "help yourself".

An Open Letter

To my former customers and patrons, and all my friends in Milam County:

I sincerely appreciate all of the business you did with me when I managed the Magnolia Service Station at the corner of Fourth and Travis.

It was with some regret that I found it necessary to sell out to John David Matula, but, to have enough time to give to another business which I plan to establish, it was necessary.

I have been approached by some of you who want me to start another station, and by the Magnolia people who want me to operate a station in Houston. I gratefully appreciate the offer from Magnolia and from you people, since it shows that I was successful in my efforts to please you; but the business I intend to start in the near future will take all my time.

Thanking you again for all of your business, kind words, and friendship and to the Magnolia Company officials for their full cooperation and their desire to let me manage their new and beautiful Houston station, I remain

Learn How to Pull Together

Saw a kid go by the Clarion office on a brand-new coaster wagon yesterday—and it reminded me of when my brother and I were about forty years younger.

Our folks weren't poor, but there wasn't enough to buy two wagons for Christmas. We got one between us. Dad made a rule that we each could have it for a week—but the boy with the wagon was responsible for keeping the kitchen wood-box filled.

Seemed a bargain to Bud and me—at first. But soon we discovered it was no more fun playing alone than working alone. It wasn't long before we were sharing the wagon in return for sharing the chores.

From where I sit, you can't enjoy a privilege yourself if you're going to deny it to others. There are some folks who want the right to enjoy their favorite beverage—but would deny me my right to an occasional glass of beer. I doubt if such people get their full "share" of happiness, though.

Fort Hood Land Owners May Get Pay For Land Use

WASHINGTON, April 11 — The Army will try to work out a plan to compensate landowners west of Fort Hood for use of their land during maneuvers, Congressman Bob Poage said he was told this week by the Assistant Secretary of the Army.

"I think this is a step in the right direction," Poage said.

The congressman expressed hope the Army will agree to pay higher rentals than they suggested at his first meeting with them.

A large-scale maneuver at Fort Hood earlier this year was modified so it could be held on the post after the Army failed to get permission of landowners near the post to cross their property. Some landowners requested that their land be leased by the Army for maneuver rights.

The Army at the time said it had no plan whereby it could pay for land used during maneuvers.

Easter visitors in the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Tindall were Mr. and Mrs. J. K. Elliott and family of Dallas, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Tindall and daughter of Greenville, Miss Johnnie Tindall of Austin and Mr. and Mrs. Sam Tindall and daughter of Cameron.

Buckholts Church Holds Service

The Czech Moravian Church at Buckholts held its annual sunrise service Sunday morning at six o'clock when Rev. W. John Baletka, assistant pastor brought the Easter message.

Participants on the program were choir members and groups from the Sunday school's various age groups. Rev. Baletka directed traditional hymns which included, "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth" and "There is a Green Hill Far Away." The Youth choir sang "Why Should He Love Me So."

Others on the program were served at the piano. Mrs. Baletka and Mrs. Alvin Posipal, representatives from the South Elm Baptist and Buckholts Baptist church choirs, accompanied by Mrs. C. R. Criswell.

Raymond Posival, superintendent of Czech Brethren young people, assisted by League Mothers, Mrs. Alvin Stalmach, Mrs. Pete Orsag and other Brethren League members was in charge of church decorations. A large cross made of paper Easter lilies decorated the Altar, and seasonal flower arrangements were placed at other vantage points of interest.

Visitors came from Bryan, Temple, Dallas, Rogers and Cameron.

At least one electric range was burned. A service station operated by P. H. Reichert was struck. Telephone lines were put out of commission for a few hours.

The Pleasant Grove community reported between 4 and 5 inches of rain, and enough hail to cover the ground. Tomatoes in the community were damaged.

The carrier was re-commissioned in Bremerton, Wash., in January after a 26 month modernization at the Puget Sound Naval Shipyard there. The Shangri-La received the first structurally angled flight deck in the Navy during her modernization. Also installed were new heavy-duty steam catapults and an enclosed "hurricane" bow.

Albert and Milton Glaser were visitors in Corpus Christi the past week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Andrews.

$42 Million Tax Bill On House "Line"

AUSTIN, April 12 —The Texas House held the line on a $42-million-a-year new tax bill through 8 hours of furious debate Monday—then rejected it outright on a 63 to 78 vote to engross in a vote at midnight.

The House recessed until Tuesday, with a motion pending to reconsider the bill, so as to bring it back on the calendar.

Defeat by the 10-vote margin came as a surprise to many members, after a grueling day's fight on the omnibus compromise laid out by Chairman Stanton Stone of the revenue and taxation committee.

The bill was designed to raise $42 million a year, of which $24 million would be for highways, thus falling about $4 million a year short of the amount called for by the appropriation bill, already passed.

During the debate, the House had ripped $1,250,000 a year from beer license fees, but held firm to the two others scheduled in the bill, a one-cent gasoline tax increase and a one-cent cigarette tax increase.

Earlier the House decisively rejected an amendment to put the bill's gasoline tax back to two cents originally recommended by Gov. Allan Shivers.

Speaker Jim Lindsey, shortly after 11:30 p. m., voted to break a 67 to 67 tie and clamp on the previous question, ending debate and forcing the vote on engrossment.

Briefly Rep. W. S. Heatly Jr. of Paducah apparently had tacked on a $5 million a year increase on beer taxes — $1.30 per barrel; but the House reconsidered and killed it. The only changes in the bill as laid out by its author, Revenue and Taxation Chairman Stanton Stone, was to exempt city transit systems from the gasoline tax and to scale down beer license fees.

Albert and Milton Glaser were visitors in Corpus Christi the past week-end as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Andrews.

Mrs. John Ryan and father, Mr. Sloan have returned from a three week visit with their children and grandchildren in Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Lonnie Armstrong parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Fisher spent the Easter holidays with her at Buffalo, Texas.

SOUTHWESTERN BELL INSTALLS

TWO MILLIONTH TELEPHONE in TEXAS

SOUTHWESTERN BELL's two millionth telephone in Texas was placed in service early this month... just 77 years after the first telephone installation in the state.

This two millionth telephone is a far cry from the two millionth installed in 1878 connecting Col. A. H. Belo's office at the Galveston News with his nearby home.

Not quite eight years ago—in August, 1947—Southwestern Bell installed its one millionth telephone in Texas. Thus, we have added as many telephones in the past eight years as during the previous 69.

Yet, the big story is not in the number of telephones—but what the telephone means to the state and nation. As telephones are added, miles shrink and the range of the human voice overcomes time and distance.

Two million Southwestern Bell telephones in Texas form a bridge of understanding that strengthens the social and economic ties between all the people within and beyond the boundaries of the Lone Star State.

The growth of a telephone system within a state is a good indication of the state's progress and prosperity. For instance, in 1925

The two millionth Southwestern Bell telephone in Texas—installed in the office of the Governor in Austin, April, 1955.

TEXAS TELEPHONE MILESTONES

- 1878 — First telephone connect Col. A. H. Belo's office in the Galveston News with his home.
- 1879 — First telephone exchange in Texas opened in Galveston.
- 1883 — First long distance telephone line connects Galveston and Houston.
- 1899 — First lift-the-receiver switchboard installed in Dallas.
- 1927 — Telephone calls to Europe possible for Texans.
- 1929 — Ship-to-shore telephone service started.
- 1936 — Southwestern Bell's 500,000th telephone installed.
- 1946 — First telephones in moving vehicles.
- 1947 — Southwestern Bell installs one millionth telephone in Houston home of Mr. and Mrs. Gunter W. Koetter.
- 1952 — Operator long distance dialing introduced.
- 1955 — Customer long distance dialing introduced from Harrison to 13 Valley cities.
- 1955 — Two millionth Southwestern Bell telephone installed.

Southwestern Bell served Texans with $58 million in telephone property; by 1940 this had grown to $139 million; and by 1955, the company served Texans with $650 million in telephone plant. Because telephone growth is made possible by money invested by citizens in all walks of life, the two millionth Southwestern Bell telephone in Texas is a symbol of trust and confidence in the future of the state.

We are still growing and expanding with Texas—building more and better telephone equipment throughout the state... planning to meet the telephone needs of the future—whatever they may be.

Yes, we're proud of our two million telephones in Texas. But to a greater degree, we are grateful for the friendship of the people of Texas through the years.

President Earmarks $5 Million To Help Texas Farmers Save Soil

WASHINGTON, April 7— President Eisenhower earmarked five million dollars in emergency funds today to help farmers in Texas and six other states keep more precious soil from blowing away.

Announcing the allotment to deal with dust storm damage, the White House told a grim tale of drought-cracked plains scored by winds.

It gave a state-by-state picture which said that in North Texas alone 650,000 acres have been damaged and another 5 million acres are likely to suffer.

At Austin, the governor's office said it had received no word on how Texas' share of the dust storm damage funds would be administered.

William McGill, coordinator of defense and disaster relief, said the money "probably" would be administered by the State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee with headquarters at Texas A & M.

Presidential Secretary James Hagerly said the funds will be distributed through the agricultural conservation program under which subsidies are paid farmers for carrying out approved soil and water conservation practices.

This particular allotment will be made available to affected farmers to help pay for emergency tillage to limit soil blowing. The amount to be allotted each state was not announced.

Other states named are Colorado, Kansas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Nebraska and Wyoming.

The White House said the seven states have had serious dust storm damage over seven million acres. It said another 20 million acres are threatened because of insufficient "cover" to protect land against wind erosion.

Most Crops Are Re-Planted Now J. D. Moore Says

Crop conditions have not changed a lot since last week. We did receive from one-half inch of rain up to near flood condition the last part of last week. Heaviest rain reported was along Sandy creek south of Milano and north of Yarrington.

Practically all of the corn was replanted following the freeze.

Some who thought the maize would come out following the freeze damage are now replanting. About one half stand of maize survived the freeze.

Truck crops have been replanted but most cotton farmers are waiting until after Easter to plant cotton.

No insect damage other than cutworms were reported. Livestock conditions are good.

Dealey, Great Man Of Journalism, Told Of In Ernest Sharpe's Book

Ernest Sharpe, a former Cameronite and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Sharpe of Cameron, has been commended in literary circles and by those who have read his book, for his recent biography of one of the greatest men in the journalism field, G. B. Dealey, head of the Dallas News for so many years.

In his book Sharpe tells of the truly great man Dealey was, acting in his work and in what he considered the best of news and reporting for the people of Dallas and yet the deep humility he felt for his work. Always knowing what his abilities were yet feeling the humility of the truly great who judge themselves not by their talents but measure them against the great dreams they have had.

Sharpe tells in detail many of the characteristics which made Dealey a great man, how he had the knack of creating a lasting impression on everybody he met. The impressions, inevitably, varied widely. To one he might be a witty and urbane dinner partner, to another a canny trader; a few might think he was "all-business", with little thought of anything else, while many others wondered how, with all his civic concerns, he had time left for more than casual supervision of his own business.

Back of Dealey's laconic chronicle of positions with various newspapers in a story probably unparalleled in the annals of American journalism. To have served a single institution continuously for 72 years is something of a world record; to have been a major factor in preserving a notable journalistic tradition, typical of its time and region, and amplifying it to national proportions is equally unique.

Well known critic Herbert Gambrell commented, "Ernest Sharpe of the University of Texas journalism faculty tells, with Dealey-like insight and economy, how he did it. Sharpe understands newspapers in general and The News in particular, and he knows how to unfold a long and complex story with convincing brevity and sparkle of wit. It is an achievement of the first rank, attractive to those who know newspapers only as subscribers and to those who help to create them."

9 Out of 10 Working People Under OASI Law

Included in the amendment act pertaining to the Social Security Act, taken by the 83rd Congress last summer, and signed by President Eisenhower on September 1, 1954, was an inclusion of some ten million more persons in the old-age and survivors insurance program.

James B. Marley, district manager of the Austin social security office stated that these ten million more individuals coming under the Social Security Act for the first time on January 1, 1955, are made up principally of farm operators and self-employed accountants, architects, engineers, and funeral directors. Also included are state and local government employees under retirement systems, home-workers, and fishermen. Through a change in the law, domestic workers and farm workers who were unable to qualify before many now secure coverage under social security.

Mr. Marley pointed out that nine out of ten working Americans will be affected directly by changes made in the new law. Starting next year, more than 57 million civilian workers will be in jobs covered by OASI. More than 110 million social security cards have been issued.

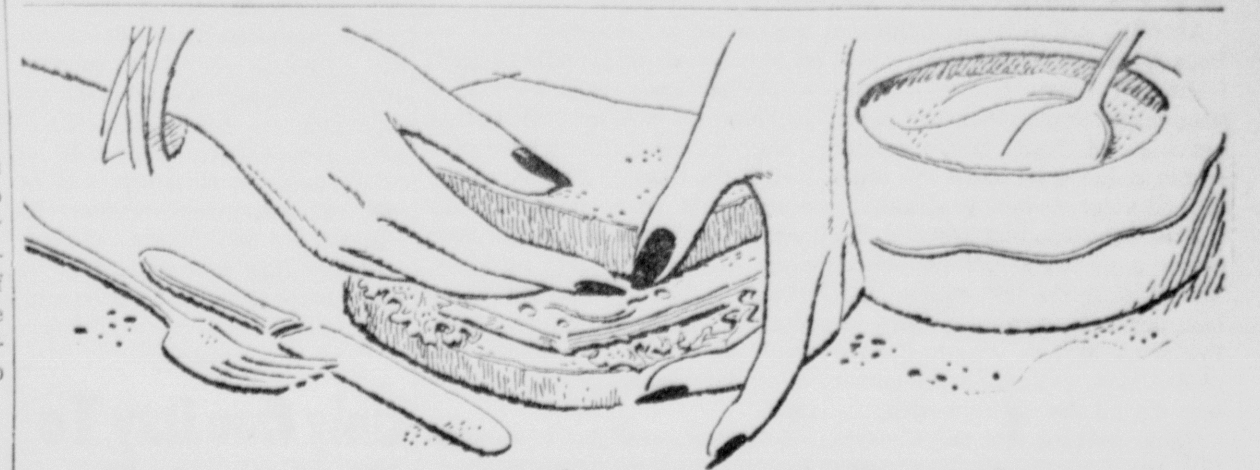

Space restrictions prohibit a detailed explanation of the various specific portions of the new law, but answers to such questions as those newly covered, benefit improvements, retirement test, disability freeze, "drop-out" provision and refiguring benefits may be secured at the Austin social security office.

WHY PAY UP TO $500 MORE FOR A CAR SMALLER THAN PLYMOUTH?

Don't be fooled by the claims of so-called medium-price cars that they cost practically the same as Plymouth. When you compare price tags you'll find that, model for model, Plymouth sells for much, much less than medium-price cars, and gives you more car for your money!

Taxpayers are reminded that failure to pay the estimated tax when due will result in a penalty of 6 percent per year for under-the tax as declared on the estimated return may be based on the previous year's tax if the return was for a 12-month period, (b.), a tax computed by using the previous year's income with current year's rates and exemptions. If exemptions and income should change during the year, an amended declaration may be filed on June 15, September 15 or January 15.

The first step for a taxpayer to take in determining whether to file a declaration is to determine whether his estimated income includes more or less than $100 of income from sources other than wages subject to withholding. If he expects to receive more than $100 not subject to withholding, he must file a declaration if estimated gross income is expected to exceed $600 times the number of exemptions to which he is entitled, plus $400.

If a taxpayer expects to receive no more than $100 not subject to withholding, the necessity for filing a declaration depends on his or her marital status and the amount of estimated wages. A single individual, or a married person not entitled to file a joint declaration, is required to file a declaration if estimated gross income exceeds $5,000. A person entitled to the status of head of a household or surviving spouse need not file a declaration unless total estimated gross income will exceed $10,000.

A married person entitled to file a joint declaration is required to file a declaration if gross income is expected to exceed $5,000 and the combined income of husband and wife exceeds $10,000.

Remember that the estimates do not have to be exactly accurate. The tax as declared on the estimated return may be based on (a) the previous year's tax if the return was for a 12-month period, or (b.), a tax computed by using the previous year's income with current year's rates and exemptions. If exemptions and income should change during the year, an amended declaration may be filed on June 15, September 15 or January 15.

LITTLE RIVER PHILOSOPHER DISTURBED OVER INSTANTANEITY OF THE EXPERTS THAT HIS FARMING FUTURE IS SECURE
Editor's note: The Little River Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Marlow discussed the future of agriculture this week, a subject he knows as much about as does anything else.

I was out here the other day reviewing my assets, going over in my mind what the agricultural situation is and trying to figure out if I was about as well off as the viewing my assets, going over in

I was figuring up my assets on the margin of a newspaper and after I got through calculating I looked the paper over and ran into an article that set me to worrying.

In this article, the Secretary of Agriculture was trying to prove that farmers are in fine shape and things ought to continue that way.

Now I'll tell you, when the experts start trying to prove to me my future is secure, my first reaction is to begin wondering if something is wrong, and one of the arguments advanced by Sec. Benson didn't help a bit.

According to him, one of the reasons times are good and are gonna get better for the farmers is that he sees "a continuation of high domestic demand for food."

As I understand this, he believes farming is secure because people are gonna keep on eating food, and in one sense he's right, that is, I believe it's a fairly safe prediction that there will never come a time when people will lose interest in something to eat, but on the other hand I doubt if there ever was a time in the past when they lost interest in that either, and everybody knows there have been times in the past when farmers were busted.

I tell you, basing farming prosperity on the proposition that there's gonna be a steady demand for food is hunting pretty hard for something to be optimistic about. I believe farming is gonna continue to be a good enterprise, but I ain't basing it on the idea it has because people have to eat. You might as well argue banking is gonna stay good every month out of the year forever because people like money.

I'd appreciate it if the experts would stop telling me when I'm well off. The minute I ain't, I'll know it.

Yours faithfully,
J. A.

HEALTH and SCIENCE

New Look for an Old Remedy

The four most widely used pharmaceutical ointments for the treatment of minor cuts, wounds and abrasions, and one ointment used for impetigo and minor parasitic skin diseases, have been given a new scientific boost.

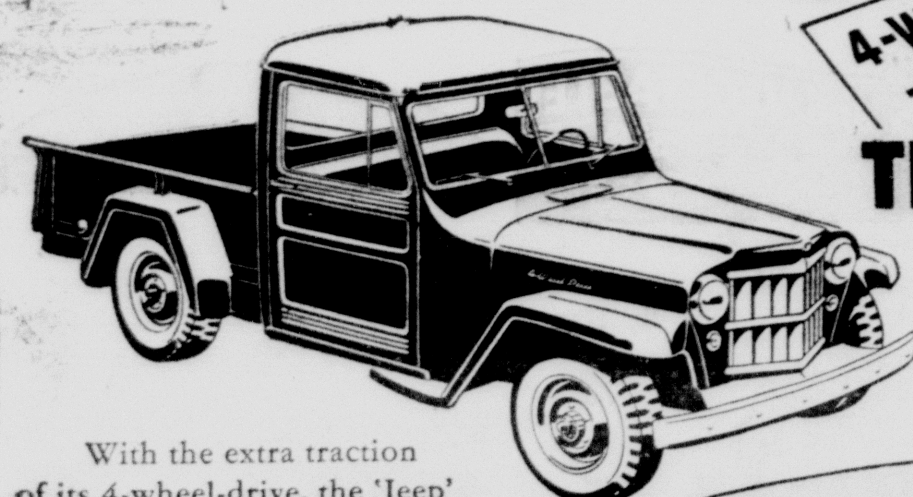

All four of these ointments have been listed as official ointments for prescription or recommendation by pharmacists for close to a century. Today, due to the research done by McKesson and Robbins, it will now be possible to obtain these ointments with a new added feature—probably the most widely used antibiotic in skin disease—tyrothricin.

Research scientists of the company have spent nearly a year running different tests on the new ointments to prove their added effectiveness as opposed to the old standard ointments. All these tests show a much faster, wider degree of healing and antibacterial action. It was found, for instance, in antibiotic ammoniated mercury ointment that its action against ringworm was markedly improved, as opposed to the old plain ammoniated mercury ointment.

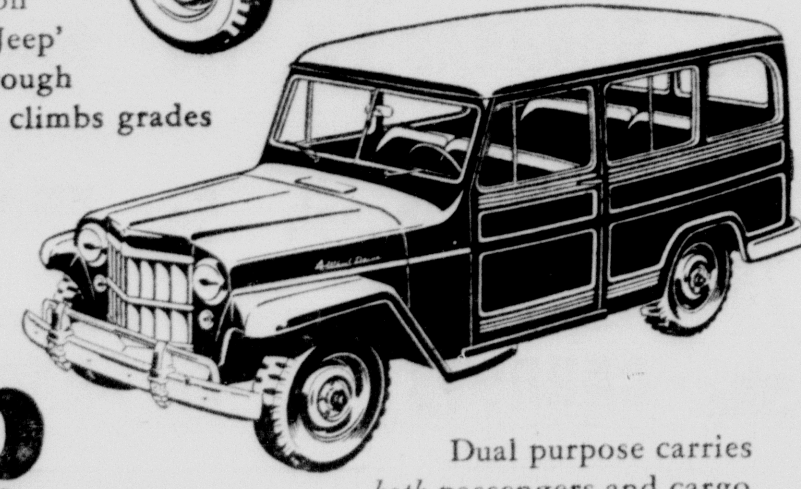

All of these ointments have been old stand-bys for many years and their names and uses are readily recognizable to the American public. Boric acid ointment is used on minor wounds and abrasions; ichthammol ointment is used in the treatment of acne and boils; ammoniated mercury ointment is used as a treatment for scabies, ringworm, chronic eczema and porriago; zinc oxide ointment is used in a wide variety of irritations of the skin.

The revolutionary, new form of these preparations is now being widely distributed by McKesson and Robbins to pharmacies over the country. They will be available to the public on prescription or over the counter on the recommendation of pharmacists. Their development is just another example of science blending the old with the new for the benefit of mankind.

"In The House of Representatives"

by Herman Yezak

April 4-8. The House refused to take up for consideration the economic gas waste bill by a vote of 32 to 53. The bill was printed on a minority report two weeks ago.

Rules were suspended in the house to consider the Trinity River Authority bill. The navigation feature in the original bill was deleted. The bill permits an ad valorem tax of ten cents in a nine-county area along the Trinity river watershed.

The House refused to suspend the rules to bring up a House Bill to remove public officials who refuse to testify before courts or legal agencies.

The House passed a Senate Bill making certain adjustments in the incorporation, organization, regulation, operation, control, and taxation of all organizations handling contracts of insurance other than life insurance. The measure had the endorsement of the Casualty Insurance Commission.

Conference committees have been appointed by the Speaker on the part of the House, and by the Lieutenant Governor on the part of the Senate, to adjust the difference between the two houses on the General Appropriations bill.

The Revenue and Taxation committee of the House is conducting hearings on tax bills that have been requested by authors of tax proposals. The committee has made no indication as to the type of a tax program it might finally approve.

A House bill providing for the scratch method of voting was passed and sent to the Senate. The measure eliminates squares before the names on the ballot which have been printed on ballots for the past four years.

The House passed 11 House and Senate bills on the Local and Uncontested calendar Tuesday afternoon. The House gave permission for the introduction of six House Bills during the week and also twenty bills were approved by standing committees in the House.

Farm Ponds

By Clarence L. Stock
Chairman, Board of Supervisors
Central Texas SCD

In addition to furnishing needed water supply on the farm, farm ponds through proper fertilization and management may be turned into a source of food and recreation.

This can be accomplished by stocking the pond with fish.

But there are several factors which make the difference between a pond that offers good fishing and one that doesn't.

Two of the most important factors are the control of the fish population and production of food for them.

When the fish population of a pond gets out of balance with too many small, stunted fish or undesirable fish, it is often best to remove all fish and start over with balanced stocking.

The use of Derris powder (five percent rotenone) is an easy and practical method in removing fish from ponds.

Use of rotenone or other materials toxic to fish is prohibited by law in public waters, but is permitted in private ponds only as a management practice in a pond improvement program.

It should be applied at the rate of three pounds of five percent rotenone powder to each acre foot of water. This statement is harmless to livestock of humans, and the pond will be ready for restocking within seven to 14 days.

Fish grow to pan size in a year when the pond is properly stocked and fertilized.

In unfertilized ponds, an acre of water may support as few as 20 pounds and seldom more than 200 pounds of fish per year. These same ponds can be made to support from 400 to 600 pounds of fish by adding commercial fertilizer.

Commercial fertilizer (8-8-8) added to the water at the rate of about 100 pounds to the surface acre per month from April to July will increase production tremendously. The fertilizer should be scattered in the water around the shore.

The pond should be fertilized once a month during this period, but care should be taken not to over fertilize.

If the pond is muddy, one ton of barnyard manure per acre of water applied every two weeks for a month or two will help clear the mud.

Fertilizer not only improves fishing but also keeps down moss and other undesirable plants. The green scum that may cover some ponds can be killed with bluestone (copper sulphate).

In treating ponds, the bluestone may be put in a sack and dragged through the water until all is dissolved.

Safe dosage is eight pounds of bluestone per million gallons of water.

In small ponds or watering troughs, the scum may be prevented by putting pieces of copper sheets or copper shavings in the water. This will be effective for a long time unless covered with dirt or slime.

To eradicate lily pads, use a mixture of eight ounces of 2,4-D, weed killer in three gallons of kerosene and a tablespoon of detergent, and spray this mixture on the pond with a hand sprayer. The detergent is necessary to stick the spray to the lily pads. This spray is not effective against cattails.

Nutria, muskrat-like animals native to South America, are effective in control of cattails, but not in control of lily pads.

The main things to remember are to stock the pond with right kinds and numbers of fish, fertilize (preferably with commercial fertilizer), fish the pond hard as soon as pan size fish can be caught, and keep weeds controlled.

The first went to E. M. Clark, president of Southwestern Bell in St. Louis. The second call was to Mrs. Gunter W. Koetter of Houston, subscriber who got the 1,000,000th Texas telephone in 1947.

QUOTATIONS

"Dr. Boyce did wonders for me. I'm enjoying better health now than I have in a long, long time. I suffered from Migraine Headaches for years."

"I had Arthritis ... nothing helped me as much as Dr. Boyce's adjustments. After spending a small fortune, a small Chiropractic fee was all that was necessary to find relief."

"I had female trouble and was extremely nervous. I had violent, bursting headaches. I tried Chiropractic and Dr. Boyce was a last resort and that's where I found genuine, lasting relief."

"Our baby, only 3, had been sick since birth. He was puny, nervous, so underweight and irritable. We spent every dollar we had trying to find something that would help him. You wouldn't know that child today after taking adjustments from Dr. Boyce. He's healthy, happy, plays hard and eats all the time."

Dr. McLane Resigns As President Of Tex-Mex After 41 Years

The following story appeared in "The Kingsville Record" on March 2, 1953 and will be read with interest by the many friends of Dr. McLane in Cameron and Milam County. Brooks McLane, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John B. McLane, was born and reared in Cameron. The McLane family was prominent in the business, church, and social life of Cameron in its early history. The home in which the family lived is now occupied by the Denson Clinic.

The article is as follows: The resignation of Dr. S. Brooks McLane, who has been with the Tex-Mex Industrial Institute for more than forty one years, and who has served as president of the school since 1932, was tendered the Board of Trustees in January, to take effect as of July 1, 1953. The trustees did not act on his request until a recent meeting in Austin, Texas.

The announcement was made to the faculty and student body of the school on Friday last week, when Mr. Hulon W. Black, president of the Board of Trustees, from Austin, visited the school with Mr. Chas. H. Flato III, of Kingsville, vice president, and Rev. Cruz Grandados of Kingsville, an alumnus and trustee of the school.

Mr. Black told the faculty and students that the board accepted the resignation with the deepest regrets, and for health reasons Dr. McLane.

Brooks McLane came to the school in 1914, just two years after it was founded, five miles south of Kingsville, with Dr. J. W. Skinner as president. In 1918 Brooks McLane was made principal and in 1932, following the death of Dr. Skinner, he was elected president of Tex-Mex Industrial Institute.

Dr. McLane has helped to build the school from four frame buildings to its present twenty permanent structures; from nothing but land and debts to a present valuation of well over a half million dollars.

Since coming to Tex. - Mex., Dr. S. Brooks McLane has become recognized as an outstanding missionary educator, not only in his own denomination, but by all church groups. The school is operated by the Southern Presbyterian Church, and, with the exception of one state covered by the body, Dr. McLane has carried the missionary message of the school into every state in the South.

loaded river.

Klepper rescued his son at the outset and then went back in the waters to help Haney who was hit on the head by a log after the mishap; minutes after being set upon the bank the boy jumped back in to help his father and was drowned.

Rescue parties from Alcoa, Cameron, Rockdale and the surrounding towns were formed and were supplied with boats and equipment by Rockdale citizens who kept an all night vigil at the area.

Klepper and Haney are co-workers at the Industrial Generator Company in Rockdale.

NEIGHBOR —

messenger, and helped question prisoners because of his ability to speak the German language.

While carrying messages he had to be on the alert for snipers and artillery fire. He was frequently fired upon and often he had to "play dead" to save his life.

He spent 6 months in Germany with the occupation army after the war was over.

When he came back to Cameron he went to work for Milam County Hardware. He was employed by the company from 1919 until 1932. In 1932 he went into business for himself in what is now the Esslinger building. He moved his sheet metal business into its present site in 1937 after buying the building from John Muese.

He married Pearl Elizabeth King of Rosebud on May 22, 1918, just two weeks before leaving for England. The Dryers have made their home in Cameron since his return from the service.

He served with the Cameron Volunteer Fire Department from 1948 until 1950.

When Mr. Dreyer came to Cameron the town was still in its young stages.

"It's sure grown up a lot since the first time I came here," Mr. Dreyer relates.

He remembers the building of the C. H. Yoe High School and many other events which were marked steps of progress in the community.

Through the years he has proven himself as a skilled craftsman in his trade as well as a public minded citizen and a good neighbor.

Judge Graham pointed out that business of the company ceased in 1951 when the new gambling law was enacted.

COFFIELD —

Coffield told how he and Pickens had put up just short of $300,000 to finance Joe Steele of Houston in distribution of some 800 marble tables in the Houston area.

Steele was convicted in Federal Court last year on income tax evasion.

Introduced in evidence was a $292,000 note signed by Steele as president of the East Texas Novelty Company. Coffield said it represented the amount Steele borrowed from him and Pickens, repaying $225,000 of the loan.

Coffield testified that he still had possession of 450 of the tables, which were taken out of circulation several years ago following enactment of a strict gambling law under the new constitution. He said their mechanisms had been removed to make them legal for storing.

The Rockdale oilman said he and Pickens lost money on the marble table deal rather than made a big profit as contended by Langford.

In his finding of facts, Judge Graham said there was no evidence that either Coffield or Pickens held stock in the novelty company. It further said: "There is no evidence to show that any of the transactions of the East Texas Novelty Company or of any of the
